8 Best AGM Batteries in 2020 Review | BestForDriver

If you look at the data for Odyssey AGM batteries, you find that they are good for 630 discharges to 50% but only 400 discharges to 80%. Seems obvious that the 50% depth of discharge (DoD) is better. But hang on, if you flatten your batteries to 80% DoD, you won't have to do the recharging as often, so fewer cycles.

Can AGM (aka dry cell, maintainance free) batteries be reconditioned? By recondition I mean using the "Recondition" mode on smart battery chargers that have this function. Mostly it's to break down the lead sulphate crystals by applying a higher current when the battery is fully charged, either in constant or pulse mode.
