Professor Robinson provides over and over again in this book the difference in Believing Christ and believing in Christ. If we believe Christ and confess our sins and seek remission of our sins, He can clean us up and we become acceptable to God right now. Having faith in Christ is not quite the same and we do not become necessarily clean. He provides this message in simple clear stories and parables that young and older adults can easily understand.

Author Stephen Robinson illustrates the power of the Savior as he uses analogies and parables, such as his own bicycle story, and scriptures and personal experiences in this moving, best-selling book. "Mortals have finite liabilities," he explains, "and Jesus has unlimited assets."

Believing Christ: The Parable of the Bicycle and Other ...

Sometimes, to have faith in Christ is also to believe Christ. Both as a bishop and as a teacher in the Church, I have learned there are many that believe Jesus is the Son of God and that he is the Savior of the World, but that he cannot save them. They believe in his identity, but not in his power to cleanse and to purify and to save.

Believing Christ The Parable Of Bicycle And Other Good ...

"We often think that having faith in Christ means believing in his identity as the Son of God and the Savior of the world. But believing in Jesus' identity as the Christ is only the first half of it. The other half is believing in his ability, in his power to cleanse and to save—to make unworthy sons and daughters worthy."

Believing Christ Quotes by Stephen E. Robinson

Many of us believe IN Christ, but some of us do not BELIEVE Him. Some feel that they simply aren't good enough for the Atonement of Christ to work in their lives. But all of us aren't good enough. "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23).
