The Bible teaches us that God "demonstrates his own love for us" (Rom. 5:8) in how he came to us in Jesus. He didn't expect us to climb up to him. He climbed down to us. He got his hands dirty so that we could have our hearts cleaned.

Dirty God: Jesus with the Lepers - FaithGateway

The brilliance of Christianity is the image of a God, named Jesus, arrived with dirty hands. Jesus came in a time period when Greco-Roman gods were housed in gigantic temples and portrayed with...

Jesus: The King of Kings and Lover of Lepers. The way Jesus Himself interacted with leprosy victims is a great illustration of God's compassion for us. Jesus lived in a highly superstitious time, when most people believed that leprosy was the result of a curse or of some incorrigible and hidden sin — not unlike modern Eastern religious systems that teach that your current place in life is the direct result of the karma, or lack thereof, in your previous life.

The God With Dirty Hands - FaithGateway

But despite the Christian belief that Jesus was both fully God and fully man, Jesus was a rather dirty God. He was the "earthly" son of a carpenter, and life in the first-century was both more...
